The biennial international conferences on Wind Turbine Noise, organised by INCE/Europe, started in Berlin in 2005. They have become the main international forum for the technical discussion of wind turbine noise, from how it is generated to its effect on neighbours.

Because of the current COVID-19 situation, Wind Turbine Noise 2021 will take place as an e-conference, which allows us to be more flexible regarding the types of papers and presentations we will accept.

Please visit the conference website for further information.
